COMPROMISE SEEN IN CWA FUND ROW IN COMING WEEK

Senate Expected To Yield To House and Eliminate Provision for Senate Confirmation of State Directors.

CONTEMPT CASES COME UP TUESDAY

Vital Revenue Bills Probably Will Make Further Progress Despite Other Issues to Fore.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The two houses of congress, at odds over the $500,000,000 civil works-relief bill sent them by President Roosevelt, are expected to compose their differences and approve the measure early this week.

A house committee last night rejected the senate amendment to the bill which would have allowed the president to designate and the senate confirm the state relief directors. Indications tonight were that the senate, in conference with house members, would agree to the change. The house is scheduled to vote on the amendment tomorrow.

Tuesday the senate will deliberate in executive session on what is expected to be the last of the contempt cases which have been cited for contempt in connection with the air mail contract investigation. The senate concluded taking testimony yesterday.

Gulf Canal Project Reported Opposed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The war department was said to have informed congress today that it has reported to the public works administration that from preliminary studies the construction of an Atlantic ocean-to-Gulf of Mexico ship canal did not seem feasible.

LINDBERGH SCORES ROOSEVELT ACTION ON AIR CONTRACTS

Commercial Aviation Condemned Without Fair Trial, Colonel Says in Protest to President.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh tonight telegraphed President Roosevelt that "the condemnation of commercial aviation by cancellation of mail contracts and the use of the army commercial lines will unnecessarily and greatly damage all American aviation."

The telegram added that "your order of cancellation of all air-mail contracts condemns the largest portion of our commercial aviation without a fair trial" and "your present action does not discriminate between innocence and guilt and places no premium on honest business."

The telegram was made public by Colonel Henry Breckinridge, Lindbergh's attorney, at the former's office.

Colonel Lindbergh, who is technical adviser to Transcontinental and Western Air, one of the companies whose air-mail contract was canceled, was not present.

Text of Telegram

The text of Colonel Lindbergh's telegram follows: "The White House, Washington, D. C.: 'Your action of yesterday affords fundamentally the industry to which I have devoted the last 12 years of my life. Therefore I respectfully present to you the following consideration: 'The personal and business lives of American citizens have been built up around the right of trial before conviction. Your order of cancellation of all air-mail contracts condemns the largest portion of our commercial aviation without just trial. 'The officials of a number of the organizations affected have not been given the opportunity to a hearing, and improper acts by many companies affected have not been established. 'No one can rightfully object to drastic action being taken provided the guilt implied is first established, but it is in the right of any American individual or organization to receive fair trial. 'Your present action does not discriminate between innocence and guilt and places no premium on honest business. 'Americans have set their lives in building in this country the finest commercial air lines in the world. The United States today are in the boundaries of every branch of commercial aviation. 'In America we have commercial aircraft, engines, equipment and air lines superior to those of any other country.'"

MacCracken Still Free Despite Valiant Effort

CHESLEY JURNERY (RIGHT) AND WILLIAM MACCRACKEN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—There was no lock on the door, and William P. MacCracken, former assistant secretary of commerce, for whom a senate contempt warrant is outstanding, was very much of a free man tonight, in spite of everything he could do to get himself arrested.

Chesley W. Jurney, senate sergeant-at-arms, in whose home MacCracken spent last night, was invited to execute a quick coup this afternoon and left his would-be prisoner staring after him on a street corner.

The warrant remained locked up in Jurney's office and the senate official's determination not to serve it until the senate reconvened tomorrow at noon remained unchanged. If MacCracken is seized and brought directly to the bar of the senate before a writ of habeas corpus can be served, it is believed he can be held until the day's session is over.

MacCracken slept last night in Jurney's bedroom, the senate sergeant-at-arms moving out temporarily.

NEW COMPROMISE MANTLE OF SNOW IN BUDGET SOUGHT TO VANISH TODAY

Anticipating that council will sustain the veto of Mayor James L. Key to the second 1934 finance sheet, Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the finance committee, has called a special meeting of that body at 10 o'clock this morning at which time he will submit what he terms another compromise in an effort to compose differences resulting from school department allocations in the budget.

The finance committee will meet an hour before council assemblies in special session for the purpose of acting on Key's latest veto. Gilliam's proposal will be that one of the reasons cited by Key in his veto message—proposed diversion of $88,000 from the school department to the city of Atlanta—be eliminated from the 1934 budget. Although Gilliam has not conferred with the mayor, he indicated that he would seek executive approval of the sheet if the relief funds were intact.

1000,000 FRENCH LAUNCH 24-HOUR GENERAL STRIKE

Virtually All Activity Halted as Warning Against Adoption of Dictatorial Methods.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A nationwide general strike against "fascist reaction" began at midnight, with 1,000,000 workers ordered to stay idle for 24 hours, stopping virtually all activity in France.

The strike was a warning to the government of Premier Gaston Doumergue against the adoption of dictatorial methods. It was anticipated to be the biggest in scope since the strike of 1919.

The start of the strike found most of France asleep after a day of national anti-fascist demonstrations by socialists and communists, but the walkout was expected to make its effects felt soon after daylight.

More than 100,000 workers in the Paris region alone were called out. The tieup in city transportation threatened to prevent non-striking workers from reaching their offices and factories, which have been ordered picketed by strike leaders.

An hour after midnight there was little to indicate the effect of the strike, as electricity, water, telephones and telegraph services were working normally. Conditions were also reported normal at Marseille and Lyon, the principal cities of the French provinces.

As a threat to the new Doumergue government against possible adoption of dictatorial methods to draw France out of the morass of rioting and public disorder, effects of the strike remained doubtful.

For one thing, the government was prepared for it, having brought to Paris squads of soldiers and sailors from the army and navy technical corps to keep public utilities running by operating telephone and telegraph lines and manning gas, electric and water plants.

Also, it was indicated authoritatively today that Doumergue's "political truth" cabinet was likely to seek emergency powers in a Roosevelt-style parliament move for several months.

Doumergue remained at his desk throughout the day, striving to calm the riot, but he issued no official word concerning the strike.

Indications pointed to an almost complete shutdown of business and industry in Paris and throughout the country. Food shops were to remain open, but the people faced going without mail, newspapers, theaters and possibly telephone and telegraph facilities for the duration of the strike.

Railroads were expected to continue operation. Subway, bus and street car employees joined the strike. Paris already was without taxi service. It

League and Disarmament Ridiculed by Germans

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The League of Nations and disarmament were treated heavily to popular derision as a feature of a two-mile long carnival procession here today.

A jackass and a camel symbolized those nations represented as still believing in the league. Part of the procession was devoted to a funeral cortege for the treaty of Versailles.

The past regime was satirized by a number of "Marxist" figures in red, while Jewish emigrants were shown at work producing atrocity stories in the shape of monster loads, which were slain with "the pen of truth."

BALTIMORE POLICE ARREST BANGHART, ALLEGED KIDNAPER

Touhy Henchman and Suspect in Factor Case Taken as He Steps Into Auto Before Home.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Basil (The Owl) Banghart, known to police as one of the cleverest criminals in America and under indictment in Chicago for the kidnapping of John Factor, international speculator, and accused swindler, was captured here today.

He was taken without a struggle as he entered an automobile after having discovered that the apartments he rented here had been raided.

Police said he was thoroughly frightened and he thought rival gangsters had closed in on him. Isaac Costner, identified with Banghart as a member of the combination known as the "Tommy" Touhy, Chicago public enemies, was seized as he entered one of the two suites taken by Banghart.

Two women whose names were given as Jessie Touhy and Max Stewart, also were taken in the apartment in which was found $12,495, all in $5 bills.

This apartment had been virtually converted into an arsenal. It was found two sub-machine guns, seven revolvers, one sawed-off shotgun and one rifle.

Police and federal department of justice representatives experienced no difficulty in apprehending the arrests. Tipped that the quartet had been making Baltimore their headquarters for the past two months, police had been on the lookout.

Sergeant Oscar Lush of the Baltimore police, received information that they could be found at the apartment building in a residential section of Baltimore.

Women Seized. Twelve police officers were sent and they seized the women. Later, Banghart entered the building, went to the suite and on finding the women gone, started to leave. As he stepped to his automobile he was covered by police guns.

The fourth arrest came this morning. Plainclothes officers and department of justice men maintained an all-night watch of the two apartments, one on the third floor and the other on the seventh.

Costner made an effort to enter the seventh-floor room and was taken when he returned to the elevator. Banghart was armed but Costner

Ware Convict Escapes From Hospital Guard

WAYCROSS, Ga., Feb. 11.—(AP)—A Ware county prisoner held on a robbery charge and placed in a hospital for an appendicitis operation a week ago escaped from his guard's room today and took his guard's pistol and overcoat with him.

The guard, thinking the prisoner physically unable to leave, had dozed off, it was explained, and awakened to find the prisoner gone.

Atlanta Is Again Third In Clearings Increase

Bank clearings continue to improve, and Atlanta continues one of the key cities reporting improvement over a year ago. This city stood third among the leading cities reporting increased clearing for the week ended February 7, with a percentage gain of 43.6 over the same week in 1932.

Atlanta banks reported to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., the New York statistical house which released the figures, that their clearings were $34,600,000 for the week as compared with $24,100,000 a year ago.

New York city clearings showed a gain of 35.1 per cent, and all the reporting cities outside of New York showed an increase in clearings of 10.1 per cent.

The amount of clearings was the highest in any week since last July, and in part reflected active trading in the securities markets. Omaha, with a percentage gain of 60.4, and Cincinnati, with a gain of 43.7 per cent, were the only two ahead of Atlanta.

Dinners in 137 Cities Tonight To Mark Georgia's Birthday

A Georgia products dinner, to be held in 137 cities in the state simultaneously, will feature the celebration of Georgia's 201st anniversary of statehood.

Under the auspices of the American Legion, prominent Georgians in 137 cities will gather at 6:30 o'clock tonight to partake of a dinner composed entirely of products grown and produced within Georgia.

Mr. Haden also advocated the production of more fresh hogs, and all edible products within the state. "Before 1870 no foodstuff was shipped into Georgia," he said, "but now millions of dollars are spent yearly in buying from other states that which can be produced in our own."

Rabbi David Marx, speaking on "Georgia," will deliver the main address tonight and the program will be broadcast by station WGST.

The new deal in business, commerce and industry and its resultant effect on the consumer from a national, state and local standpoint, will be the subject of prominent speakers at the seventh annual Institute of Citizenship, which begins at 8:15 o'clock tonight at Emory University.

Nationally known figures, including Mark F. Ethridge, former managing editor of the Macon Telegraph, and the president of the editorial staff of the Washington Post; C. A. Cobb, head of the cotton division of the AAA; M. Pierre De Lanux, head of the Paris office of the League of Nations; and Professor E. B. Wright, president of the Southern Political Science Association, will deliver addresses on the program which will extend through Friday and will be presided over by Dr. Harvey W. Cox, Emory's president, who is chairman of the institute.

Nix, Mizell to Talk. Abit Nix, of Athens, will discuss affairs from a state viewpoint, and Robert Mizell, president of the Tax Payers League of Atlanta, will give the local angle of the new deal.

Dr. Paul Bryan's address will be on "The New Deal and the Constitution," while Dr. M. G. Evans will discuss "The South and the New Deal."

Two debates will feature the program, one on the question "Resolved: That the President Power Should Be Increased as a Settled Policy," by Professor Wright and Dr. H. J. Pearce, of Brenau College; and the other on "Resolved: That the United States should not join the League of Nations."

Crippled Lawyer Finds Heiress After Searching for 25 Years

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 11.—(AP) How the long-lost daughter and sole heir of D'Aubigne Eason was found in a Long Island hospital by a crippled Oklahoma City lawyer to end a search which carried him thousands of miles in his wheelchair, was told today by the attorney, K. E. Wood.

The daughter, Mary Rebecca Eason, 42, now is established in the Oklahoma City home left her by Eason and in possession of property valued at $12,000.

Eason, a second-hand furniture dealer, died four years ago. His will left the estate to the daughter, but said he had not seen or heard of her for 25 years.

Wood took up the search. He made several trips to Georgia, where the heiress was living, where the heiress was living 25 years ago. Finally, last year, he found the trail at LaGrange, Ga., and followed it to Woodhaven, L. I. where Miss Eason lay ill in a hospital.

"You are an angel of mercy," she exclaimed when Wood told her his mission.

Now, with a home and an income from the property she inherited, the daughter is regaining her health. She said she hadn't seen her father since he and her mother separated at Pensacola, Fla., although she had made many efforts to find him.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 11.—(AP) As H. E. Martin left the throttle of his locomotive, death rode at the wheel of the automobile driven by his wife.

Martin witnessed the accident just as he brought his locomotive into the roundhouse.

The children killed were two daughters, June Lindsay, 15, and Billie Ruth Lindsay, 13, and a son, Victor, 4.

Dr. Thomas B. Bird, coroner, said the deaths were caused by carbon monoxide poisoning and Fire Chief Robert A. Bogan said the deaths were accidental.

What 120 Millions Think

A Symposium of the American Reaction to the New Deal.

This is the ninth in a series of daily articles by Ralph W. Page, economist and writer, who has toured the country to discover what its people think of the national recovery program and is now putting his findings into writing.

By RALPH W. PAGE.
(Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
Aristocratic estimates of the information, intelligence, moral values and inherent human power of the average voting citizen of the United States are ridiculously low. The mark.

Any man who travels the country over as I have in seeking information on economic subjects cannot fail to be profoundly impressed with this fact.

The farmers of the middle west know more about the function and the relative position money holds in the sum, total of human affairs than the bankers do, in my opinion.

Minds Not Sealed.
To be sure, most of the farmers never thought about the subject at all until recently. But their minds are as keen, their principles as good, their values of life as sound, as any banker's or any college professor's.

Further, their minds are not conditioned or atrophied or sealed by the shibboleths, preconceived rules and unchangeable formulas that so obviously befog the classical learning of those preoccupied with money.

I do not pretend to say that the farmers' conception of money is right. I am no judge, but I say they know more about the function and relative position of money in human affairs than bankers, for the simple reason that they are eager to learn all they can, and to discuss the whole subject in the light of the sum total of the experience of human beings. CANDLER CAMPBELL FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL

Former Oglethorpe Athlete Suffered Broken Neck in Fall Here 2 Years Ago.

Candler Campbell, 35, former Oglethorpe University athlete and a brother of Kenneth (Nutter) Campbell, attorney and noted football star of that institution, died unexpectedly Sunday at a hotel in Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Campbell received a fractured vertebrae two years ago when he fell from the high dam at Silver lake while a member of a swimming party, and friends in Atlanta Sunday night said it was reported here that his death was caused by a fall in a bathtub which broke the injured vertebrae.

It also was reported that death apparently had been caused by heart failure.

Campbell fell more than 100 feet from the dam in the summer of 1932 and wore a brace on his neck for some time. He landed on rocks and his escape from death then was said to have been miraculous.

Campbell was a representative of the Coca-Cola and Mrs. K. A. Campbell, wife of the late K. A. Campbell, as a sister. He was the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Porter, well known Atlantans.

His parents were not notified Sunday night of their son's death because of the serious illness of the father. The body will be brought here for burial.

On the Air Today

LINCOLN—John Drinwater's most celebrated play, "Abraham Lincoln," will be presented over the CBS network and WGST in commemoration of the birthday of the president from 3 to 4 o'clock. The radio production of "Abraham Lincoln" will closely follow the stage form of the work. It is a human portrait of "The Great Emancipator," written as a series of scenes in his life, opening in Springfield, Ill., at the time Lincoln was notified of his nomination for the presidency. The majority of the scenes occur in the White House during the turbulent period of Lincoln's term. The play concludes with the dramatic and tragic assassination in Ford's theater, Washington.

LEVIN—The music of Belloc and Wagner will be heard in the concert to be played by the Philadelphia orchestra over WGST at 8 o'clock. The Belloc selection will be the minuet from the "Damnation of Faust." Wagner will be represented by one of his best known compositions, the "Homage March." Sylvan Levin will conduct.

begin a four-day debate on the general tax measure. Leaders do not expect, however, to bring the measure to a vote before next week.

Appropriations.
When the senate eventually gets the independent office bill out of the way it will take up two other big appropriation measures, one for the interior department and one for the navy construction program.

The house banking committee, in addition to conducting hearings on the stock exchange control measure, also plans to begin hearings on another House recommendation, one to guarantee the principal of home loan mortgage bonds.

Cotton and sugar producers are the prospective beneficiaries of two new administration-backed agricultural relief moves which will receive attention this week.

Simultaneous with the opening of hearings by the house agriculture committee on a bill seeking further control of cotton by clipping off the excess at the marketing point, Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, plans to introduce President Roosevelt's sugar quota measure. It will be taken up by the committee as soon as the experimental cotton marketing control legislation is out of the way.

Limit in Crop.
Introduced by the Bankhead brothers, Alabama democrats, in the house and senate, respectively, the cotton bill would limit the 1934 crop to 9,000,000 bales by imposing a tax on cotton growers in excess of quota, as located by the secretary of agriculture. The department of agriculture indicated its approval after it had sent questionnaires to some 35,000 cotton farmers and received a 95 per cent favorable response from about 8,000 of them. The measure already has been approved by the senate agriculture committee.

The sugar bill will embody Mr. Roosevelt's suggestions for a quota system to keep down prices to consumers, provide for retention of sugar beet and cane farming in the United States and make sugar a basic commodity under the agricultural adjustment act. Under this arrangement a processing tax may be levied; the proceeds to be used to pay benefits to farmers for holding their production to quota limits, which would be fixed at 6,452,000 short tons for the United States and possessions and Cuba.

Cure Constipation Without Laxatives

Medical science has discovered in the human system a natural laxative fluid that combats constipation more efficiently than many laxatives that act directly on the intestines.

Bile... Nature's Own Laxative

This natural laxative fluid is called bile, a fluid generated by your liver. Your system should develop three pints of bile daily. When this bile flow falls below normal, constipation, acid stomach and lost vitality follow inevitably.

Make This Test

Stop shocking your intestines with violent purgatives. Give bile, Mother Nature's laxative, a chance to help you overcome constipation. Sargol Soft Mass Pills tend to stimulate a normal bile flow and thus help to correct constipation a natural way. Try Sargol Soft Mass Pills and compare the results. Sold by all druggists.

VIRGINIA COMPANY SHOWS POLICY GAIN

The annual report of The Life Insurance Company of Virginia, recently released by its president, Bradford H. Walker, discloses continuance of stability and careful management.

Communicating with H. B. Griffin and J. C. Howard, district managers, and B. W. Torrance, general agent, President Walker stresses the past year's gratifying operations as again demonstrating the company's good judgment in adhering to the conservative underwriting and investment principles that have always characterized it. Mr. Walker also eagerly gives credit to his loyal field associates for their indispensable services, and gratefully acknowledges the confidence imposed in the company by the owners of its million-dollar policies in force.

Gradual improvement in national business conditions is happily reflected in an increase of more than $3,000,000 in the company's outstanding insurance in force.

Also very favorable was the fact that in 1933, for the second successive year, the company's decrease in the amount of policy loans.

Assets were increased by $977,936.64; surplus was strengthened by the addition of $245,984.13. An addition of $500,000 was made to the special contingency reserve, bringing the total of this fund to $4,000,000.

In conclusion, President Walker observes that continued application of its conservative practice of placing safety of principal before investment yield has enabled the company to maintain its traditionally strong cash position.

SNOW PATTERNS.

All I can do as I write this is to hope that the snow will stick around a few days. It is the long-awaited chance to make some sketches of the tracks of field mice, rabbits, squirrels and other animals of our woods and areas.

There is not enough sand to give any satisfied source of tracks in terms in our woods about Atlanta. The chance of tracks in a sandbed is about as remote as finding an Alaskan grizzly on Rabon Bald. With the coming of the snow, however, I am hoping for a chance to find the patterns that tell graphic stories of the lives of the mice that scurry down in a nest underground, blissfully unaware of the steady whitening of the world above their heads. What a surprise they will have when they have to dig out to get their evening meals! Or those species that live in made-over bird nests. Think of their dazzled eyes when they scamper down a briary stem to the smooth, white surface.

I fear that I shall succumb to the temptation of this unusual opportunity and set some traps. Since the beasts

CRUISING COPS CATCH TWO BURGLARS IN ACT

White Man and Negro Arrested in Business Houses; Store Robber Escapes.

Radio police Sunday had a batting average of two out of three burglars in connection with the only three robberies reported during the early part of the day.

A white man and a negro were arrested on suspicion after officers had caught them in two business houses. They were Ronney Echols, 25, of 1950 Howell Mill road, and Charles Lee, negro, of the rear of 500 Bishop's alley.

Echols was apprehended in the Peerless Furniture Company store, at 415 Marietta street, by Radio Officers J. E. Silhomberg, who noticed, while cruising, that the front door glass had been broken. They found Echols hiding on the balcony and in his overcoat pocket was an alarm clock. Echols admitted breaking in, and said he had a partner, but police were unable to locate a second person.

Lee was arrested in a Shell filling station at Courtland and Harris streets, where he entered by breaking the glass in the front door. Radio Officers O. W. Allen and C. P. Wright, who were riding by, saw the broken glass and caught Lee with a large quantity of articles taken from the station.

The third burglary was reported at 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning at a store at 1189 Ormeau avenue, where the front door glass also had been broken. The loot was undetermined.

PHILHARMONIC OF N. Y. SEEKS AUDIENCE AID

The New York Philharmonic Symphony Society which has been presenting several concerts weekly, including a two-hour broadcast every Sunday afternoon over the nationwide Columbia network, including WGST here, has issued an appeal for popular subscription to save the 92-year-old orchestra from disbandment.

Since its inception in 1842, making it the oldest orchestra in the United States and the second oldest in the world, the society has expanded from 63 to 112 regular members and frequently extra players and outstanding soloists have been engaged. The directors of the organization, which is considered an important influence in American culture, report that it is in imminent danger of dissolution unless contributions from its millions of listeners are forthcoming.

Starting as a co-operative venture, the society has been supported recently by a few wealthy contributors, but owing to economic conditions the society has now been forced to appeal to its audience for continued existence.

The steering committee, under the direction of Harry Harkness Flagler, reported that $500,000 has been set as the goal, an amount sufficient to carry the organization for three years on an economy-paced budget. Contributions ranging from $1 to $5,000 have been received at the headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York city, from more than 6,000 listeners to date, it is said.

Among the distinguished conductors of the orchestra have been Dr. Leopold Damrosch, Anton Seidl, Victor Herbert, Sir Henry Wood, Richard Strauss and more recently, Walter Damrosch, Bernardino Molinari, Issay Dobrowen, Fritz Reiner, Hans Lange and Arturo Toscanini.

2 Are Shot to Death In Kansas Night Club

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Two men were shot and killed in a night club here shortly after noon today and police arrested the owner, Edward Nettles, for questioning.

John Curtin, said by police to have operated a dice game in the club, and John Norris, a former part owner of the place, were killed. Both were shot in the head.

Officers said Nettles refused to make a statement other than to deny he killed the two men, both of whom were armed.

Talley's 'Comeback' Voice Warmer But Less Certain in Upper Register

When Marion Talley walked across the stage of the Capitol theater yesterday afternoon in her first Atlanta appearance since her recent decision to make a "comeback" to the artistic world after her retirement at the age of 22, four years ago, the audience was dazzled by the beauty of the picture she presented. Her curls of yesterday have been bobbed, forming a chic coiffure, and her figure has assumed a more sylph-like slimmness. She was gowned in a lovely creation of dainty pink silk net, with a cape of the same material, fluted, and edged with a silk net of the same color, enhancing the natural beauty that is hers in a manner that was more than pleasing. Her exquisite loveliness gave the audience the impression of beholding a dream, rather than a reality.

The audience, though small in proportion, due to the inclemency of the weather, grew more and more appreciative as the program progressed, and Miss Talley expressed her appreciation in return with a generous portion of encores. Her appearance in Atlanta is credited to the Alhambra Celebrity Series, Russell Bridges, manager, and to the Atlanta Debutante Club.

The Marion Talley that sang in concert yesterday afternoon seemed not to be the same Marion Talley that swept the country with her vocal prowess four years ago, either in appearance or voice. The middle register of her voice is still exceedingly lovely, and there is a new warmth, a new feeling, a new tenderness there, but her higher register seems to have lost much of its easy emission, its clarity and purity of tone. After she sang the high tones with noticeable effort. Unless she was suffering from some cold or hoarseness, this is hard to understand in a voice as versatile as Locklear, Atlanta; Mrs. Ira McClung, Louisville, Ky.; Bryan and Dewey Smith, Atlanta; the Rev. Ray Smith, Greenville, Fla.; Mrs. Harvey Addy, Decatur, and Broughton Smith, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Wood Kiln Burns Fatal To Man at Lafayette

LAFAYETTE, Ga., Feb. 11.—(AP) The charred body of John J. Jackson, about 45 years old, was found early tonight near a wood kiln of which he was part owner.

Sheriff J. C. Keown said the discovery was made by J. D. McConnell, co-owner of the kiln, and a coroner's jury found the man died an accidental death by burning.

Coroner Luther Cagle said the body was found some yards from the kiln and it appeared Jackson's clothing had become ignited and he rolled in the snow trying to extinguish the flames.

Jackson, whose home is about nine miles south of Lafayette, is survived by his widow and a son.

Nurse Ends Life of Clubman, Self To Close 'Marriageless' Romance

DENVER, Feb. 11.—(P)—The love affair that Miss Anna E. Wendelin, pretty blond nurse, had hoped would result in her marriage today ended instead, police said, by her suicide after she shot and killed her intended mate, William C. Case Jr., wealthy New York and Denver clubman.

Alta, a woman, drove 20 miles alone to Bright, Colo., through a blinding snowstorm yesterday afternoon to obtain a marriage license for herself and Case.

Six hours later Case was shot to death as he and the nurse drove in his coupe along a crowded downtown street. Then she shot herself three times, the police investigation showed.

The unused marriage license was found in the car.

Friends said Case had courted the nurse for six or seven years, but that the only places they were seen in public were at movie theaters or in secluded corners of restaurants. She was 25 years old.

At the sixth girl Case has roomed, the aged father said.

Committee Voids Penalty on First Incomplete Pass Over Goal

A Hat Pin, a Third Baseman and the Old Orioles!

Well, amigoes, it was quite a week-end. There was the National football rules committee debating the minor rule changes.

And all of them mailing back copies of Whittier's "Snow-bound" as souvenirs of the Sunny South.

And late Saturday night, just when things had settled down for the last edition work, Mr. Timothy Aloysius Twomey decides to quit Georgia and move up to old Kaintuck as line coach and second in command under Chet Wynne.

And finally, Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, president of the Crackers, arrived in the city.

I started for the coaches' meeting with a sort of stop-over tour to Wilbert Robinson's room. And never got any farther. When one of the Old Orioles starts talking I draw up my chair and relax. That's my spot.

The Old Orioles were going strong through 1894, 1895, 1896 and 1897. And there was the ball club that made baseball.

And yesterday Wilbert Robinson, while packing to go to New Orleans, was telling of the days when a fellow hitting a home run or a triple against the Orioles had the toughest trip and the longest one, in all baseball. It was somewhat worse than going around the world, was that trip around the bases with the Old Orioles in the field.

There was "Rowdy Jack" Doyle at first base. Jack Doyle was always bent away over with a section of his anatomy in the way. It was necessary to run around. This cost a few steps.

At second base there was Kid Gleason, the roughest little man in the game. And he usually tripped runners or forced them to run wide.

And at shortstop there was Hughey Jennings. He cost them a step or so.

At third John J. McGraw was waiting. And he had a section of his anatomy bent over the base so that a fellow had to swing wide.

THE OLD BUS WAS WAITING AT THE PLATE.

And at home plate there was an old bus, disguised as Wilbert Robinson, waiting for the runner.

He was always down on his knees and the plate was not to be seen. They didn't wear knee and shin pads in those days.

And you should see your Uncle Wilbert's legs. What an artistic carving they got in those days! There are scars all over them. Big ones, small ones, wide ones, thin ones.

They are the hieroglyphics and the cuneiform writings wherein one may read the history of the old baseball days when men were men and ball players were ball players, and not fellows with a job of working requiring two hours of mild toil each day.

Very interesting, the legs of Wilbert Robinson. Not as shapely as a chorine's legs. In fact the legs of Wilbert Robinson resemble ten pins.

But when they knelt down on the plate they formed a very formidable barrier. And spikes couldn't carve their way through.

THE HAT PIN AND THE THIRD BASEMAN.

It was Pop Anson's Colts who broke up the habit of first and third basemen protruding themselves so as to force a runner wide.

Pop Anson supplied his runners, before one game, with old-fashioned hat pins. This was in the days when the ladies wore the hair long and the hats large. The hat pins were long and very sharp.

And this day Pop Anson sent his Colts out with hat pins.

Mr. Robinson becomes quite graphic in describing the great pain and anguish of that day. But it broke up an old Oriole custom. A hat pin in the sole of one's pants isn't pleasant. Especially when it penetrates an inch or so.

CHET WYNNE'S COUP.

It seems as if Chet Wynne, the new Kentucky coach, has put over something of a coup in obtaining Mr. Timothy Aloysius Twomey. Georgia lets him go with regrets. Because he is quite a tackle coach.

Chet Wynne has some of those tackles which Dexter Follows, the circus man, would describe as ponderous, powerful pachyderms.

Mr. Wynne evidently believes that Ted Twomey can stir these ponderous giants to action, teach them to use their hands and also add to their equipment the fundamentals of how to make one's self very annoying and harmful to the other eleven.

If he does this it would not be surprising to see Chet Wynne come forth with a good ball club at Lexington.

And within a year or so be a rather potent force in the affairs of the Southeastern conference, otherwise known as The Dixie Bakers' Dozen.

Ted Twomey is an excellent teacher. He is a frail little thing, standing only six feet, two inches tall and weighing about 240 pounds.

He can really teach those tackles and guards how to make themselves very, very annoying.

THE NEW RULE CHANGES.

The new rule changes were minor in character and were those suggested here yesterday as likely of passing.

The forward pass into the end zone is merely an incomplete pass the first time it occurs. After that the ball is dead and a touchback is scored when a pass is grounded in the end zone.

This will serve to retain the goal-line stand and yet open it up a bit. The quarterback will be more willing to try a pass. And this will serve to aid the offense.

The five-yard penalty for two successive incomplete passes was eliminated. This will serve to speed up the game. It was put in originally to discourage a lot of wild passing by a team hopelessly defeated. The penalty did not serve this purpose.

It will be noticed, in the story of the changes in another column, that particular emphasis was placed on the study of injuries and fatalities. There were only two in college football last season.

The clarifications and minor changes will work for a better game. The national football rules committee is a splendid group of men. They do not work quickly but their deliberations are effective and sane.

The meeting in Atlanta was the first one held outside the east.

DECISION DAY FOR SOUTHERN SLATED TODAY

Approval of Schedule, Opening Date Principal Business.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Monday will be decision day for Southern association baseball rules when the Pelicans, 1933 pennant winners, will be hosts to the association directors at a meeting for final adoption of the 1934 playing schedule.

Approval of the draft of the usual 154 games and the proposal to open the season on April 17 and close on September 16, each date a week later than usual, is the principal business before the presidents of the league's eight clubs.

The playing chart was drawn up by the schedule committee composed of Larry Gilbert, New Orleans, chairman; Wilbert Robinson, Atlanta, and Roy L. Thompson, of Little Rock.

It was reported that two tentative drafts had been made, one providing for Sunday games in Atlanta, and the other allotting Atlanta's quota of Sunday dates to other clubs.

SPLIT SEASON. UP.

One of the most important decisions to be made on whether the league will employ the split season this year. Gilbert was non-committal on whether he would favor the split season, while it was said that Tom Watkins, president of the Memphis Chicks, whose team was leading by a wide margin last year when the directors voted to split the season, was an opponent of the division and might be joined by Joe Engel, of Chicago, who fought attempts to divide the season in 1932 when the Lookouts were out in front.

Other lively questions to come up are, final revision of the intention of the pass rule; provision for carrying additional players the first 30 or last 30 days of the season; proposal for an inter-league game between the team and a team to be picked by the fans and adoption or rejection of the uniform ball.

On the intentional pass rule it will be proposed that penalties imposed for the intentional pass shall not apply in cases where the pitcher has thrown a no-hitter. It is suggested that any runner shall be declared a base runner when the pitcher intentionally passes a batter without giving him an opportunity to hit.

MAX DISCUS BALL.

Adoption of the uniform ball of the major leagues may be discussed, though the contract for balls used last year, which was described as "satisfactory" has another year to run.

Several of the clubs, it was reported, are in favor of an inter-league game patterned after the major all-star contest of last season. The game would be played on or about July 1 between the team leading the league at that time and a team selected by the fans.

Proceeds from the game would go to the National Association of Professional Baseball Players.

Tigers' Prospects Uncertain

WHITE PHANTOMS OF N. CAROLINA TOP SOUTHERN

Duke Moves Up Into Threatening Position in Race.

By Joseph E. Nettles.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Victorious over N. C. State by an overwhelming margin, North Carolina's White Phantoms, still leading the southern conference basketball procession, today watched Duke's Blue Devils move up into a threatening position.

Carolina's victory over State last night was no surprise but the score, 45 to 24, was more convincing than the most optimistic Tarheel had expected.

State's Wolfpack which previously conquered the Phantoms in a spectacular uphill battle, had no second half spurt in reserve at Chapel Hill. With Stuart Aiken and Vergil Weathers showing the way, the Tarheels ran up a 26 to 16 margin at the intermission and continued the barrage in the closing period.

GAMECOCKS PLAY.

South Carolina's Gamecocks, victorious over Clemson in their only start and technically at the head of the list, will renew their belated campaigning in a pair of battles with Clemson at Columbia Friday and Saturday.

With the turn of the week the Gamecocks will cross over into North Carolina in an effort to earn more than a technical right to the leadership in contests with State, Duke and Carolina.

Meanwhile on their more impressive record, the Phantoms enjoyed the leaders' laurels with Maryland's fast falling Old Liners following and turning back Washington & Lee, Virginia Military and V. P. I.

Washington & Lee's Generals who lost to Duke by a whipping, Virginia Tech, enjoyed whatever honors were attached to the leadership of the second division with V. M. I., V. P. I., Clemson and Virginia following in order.

EIGHT LOSSES.

Virginia's Cavaliers, the most deserving candidate for the consolation prize, showed a record of eight defeats in as many conference games but the statistics failed to tell the story of the magnificent battles the Cavaliers have put up against superior foes.

State's Wolfpack, trying to push itself upward, will move northward this week to play Virginia Tech Tuesday at Blacksburg, Washington and Lee Thursday at Lexington and Virginia at Charlottesville Friday.

Meanwhile North Carolina will face another crucial test with Duke's Devils at Durham Friday.

Other games on the program will pit V. P. I. against Washington and Lee at Blacksburg tomorrow night, Maryland against V. M. I. at College Park Tuesday, South Carolina against Clemson in a pair of battles at Columbia Friday and Saturday and V. P. I. against V. M. I. at Lexington Saturday.

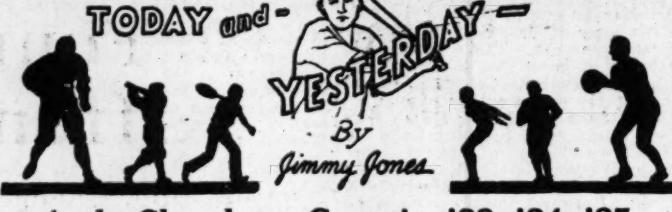

The standings of the Southern conference teams follow:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	pts.	opp. pts.
North Carolina	11	1	.909	415	273
Duke	11	1	.833	358	258
South Carolina	10	2	.833	358	258
Washington & Lee	8	4	.667	283	213
Virginia Tech	8	4	.667	283	213
V. M. I.	7	5	.583	258	202
Clemson	7	5	.583	258	202
V. P. I.	6	6	.500	211	181
Virginia	6	6	.500	211	181

FAMOUS GEORGIA ATHLETES

Andy Chambers, Georgia, '23, '24, '25.

Georgia was playing the University of Maryland in a game of baseball. It was in the ninth inning, Georgia leading 8-7, the bases loaded and none out.

The Georgia team had exactly 20 minutes in which to catch a train out of College Park for Athens.

Bill White, the veteran coach of the Bulldogs and now a scout for the Atlanta Crackers, was fretting in the Georgia dugout as the clouds of a Maryland rally began to gather. He visioned the train pulling out without his team aboard.

HANDY ANDY.

White turned to Andy Chambers, the ace of his pitching staff, and told him to go out there and stop it.

Lanky Andy sauntered out to the hill, pitched nine balls and struck out three Maryland batters. He retired the side in less than five minutes and the Bulldogs had plenty of time to make the train.

That was real pitching for you, but only a sample of the brilliant brand that Andy Chambers, another Carrollton, Ga., product, uncorked during his career in a Georgia baseball uniform.

Bill White, who runs a bowling alley at Athens in the winter time, was talking about the good old days and Andy Chambers the other day. Bill rates him one of the two best college pitchers he ever had at Georgia. Cliff Pantone was the other.

Andy Chambers was six feet two inches tall and weighed 185 pounds. And how he could blow that ball in there!

Among his greatest feats was that of going 7-23 innings against Tech without giving a hit in a game that

Alex Stumps Officials With 'Gunga Din' Yarn

Coaches Award Him Unofficial 'Brown Derby' After Adjourning Annual Meeting.

By Jimmy Jones.

One surmised that our own Mr. W. A. Alexander of Georgia Tech will be credited with carrying off the unofficial "brown derby" at the national football caucus which has just broken up here.

At any rate, Alex sent the gentlemen of the rules committee away, chuckling to themselves, at one of the football stories he told them yesterday.

It was after the officials had concluded their final and most important session with announcement of three changes in the code.

They were all seated around a table at lunch, debating their effect, when Mr. Alexander, in all seriousness, submitted a question to Herb Dana, the noted football official.

"What would be the ruling, Herb, on a punt that was caught and carried off the field by the defensive team's waterboy?" Mr. Alexander asked.

Mr. Dana asked for amplification. "You see, it was like this. At Georgia Tech we have an old dandy named Burton who has been carrying the water to the players on the field for around 30 years. He's an old fashioned water carrier and we couldn't get him to use the trays and bottles when they came into style. Burton insisted on carrying the water in his old battered bucket.

GOOD OLD BURTON.

"One day our team made a drive down the field and lost the ball on the five-yard line. There was a time out and old Burton went ambling out with his bucket of water. After watering the players, he started walking slowly back toward the sidelines.

"Before he could get off the field, play was resumed and the other team punted. The kicker tried to slice the ball out of bounds over toward our game on the Pacific coast today by defeating the Coast All-Stars, 7 to 0, before 20,000 spectators.

Meagher To Begin Task of Replacing 13 Lettermen.

AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 11.—The first step toward replacing 13 of Auburn's 1933 football lettermen, nine of whom were starters, will be taken Monday when the Plainsmen start five or six weeks of spring training under a new coach, mid-major Jack Meagher (pronounced Marr), who comes to Auburn from Rice Institute in Houston, Texas, where he was noted for producing strong and colorful teams.

Meagher succeeds Cliff Wynne, who lifted the Tigers out of the depths of football to the top. Wynne resigned his post as Plainsmen chieftain to become head coach at the University of Kentucky.

Freshman Coaches Ralph Jordan and Jimmie Hitchcock will assist Coach Meagher with the spring drills and also serve as assistants to the new head coach.

The investigation was financed by the Rockefeller Foundation and directed by Robert Murray Haig, Meckler professor of political economy, University of Chicago, at which 18 have sales tax.

was not. On Costner was found $38.80.

He denied that he had any connection with Banghart and told police he had been staying in another part of the city.

Questioned, Banghart denied he had any connection with kidnappings or recent bank robberies. He was questioned for about an hour, but truck robbery in Charlotte, N. C., on November 15, in which $105,000 was taken.

Too Much 'Dough.'

Captain John McIntire, of the Baltimore force, quoted Banghart as saying: "I've got enough dough to be seen in 25 years."

The money found in a handbag, neatly done up in bundles. In other suit cases were the guns, and still another contained a complete makeup set, including all types of mustaches and whiskers.

Each of the four under arrest was placed in a different police station in 1932 at city hall and a guard was placed around the apartment building in the hope of making further arrests.

Banghart has a criminal record of nearly 20 years. An escapee from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta in 1927 he shot his way out of jail at South Bend, Ind., where he was held while extradition proceedings were in progress.

Escaped Trap.

The most spectacular incident, however, came last August when he escaped from one of the most elaborate police traps ever devised.

He and Charles Connors allegedly attempted to steal $200,000 from a factory, additional ransom after $70,000 already had been paid. A detective disguised as a messenger took a dummy package to the Chicago factory, signing his name as Lawrence F. Collins, where he was shot and killed.

Informing of Banghart's arrest today, the police expressed pleasure. "The arrest will make it a much stronger case," he said.

Chicago police said the capture was "a very good piece of police work." The report made by the department of justice in Washington showed how Banghart had been trailed from Chicago to Lexington, Ky., and to Baltimore.

The report showed that Banghart rented an apartment on North Charles street in Baltimore, Md., signing his name as Lawrence F. Collins, "where he resided with his supposed wife and Ludwig Schmidt, using the name of J. Wagner."

Schmidt had had a long criminal history, dating back past the time of his escape from the Atlanta penitentiary with Gerald Chapman, who later was convicted of bank robbery and hanged in Connecticut. He also was known as a pal of Dutch Anderson, notorious bank robber who was later shot to death at Saginaw, Mich.

The department report added that across the hall from Banghart's apartment lived a man using the alias of L. J. Johnson, and an unidentified man. They left Baltimore about December 20, 1933, indicating that they were on their way to Philadelphia. Banghart and those with him remained in the apartment until January 5, 1934, when they departed.

The handwriting on automobile tags obtained by Banghart, under the name Lawrence F. Collins "is similar to the known handwriting of Banghart."

"Banghart," the report said, "was frequently seen wearing dark glasses and displayed large quantities of money. His wife also displayed large sums of money, tied up in a roll with cord."

DRAMATIC BOLDNESS MARKED $105,000 MAIL ROBBERY

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 11.—(AP)—The $105,000 mail truck robbery here last November 15, for which Basil Banghart and Isaac Costner were arrested today in Baltimore, was staged with dramatic boldness in the heart of the city.

The daylight bandits blocked a street with a stolen automobile to halt the mail truck, covered the driver and a guard with machine guns and took four mail sacks, including a pouch of registered mail containing currency for the federal reserve bank here. They escaped in another machine.

Banghart and Costner, however, located an apartment which they believe the bandits occupied for several days prior to the robbery and secured fingerprints there.

Findings of the rifled mail sacks indicated the bandits traveled to the mid-west. Some of the sacks were found in Lake James near Hickory, in western North Carolina, and one near Lexington, Ky.

All four men accused of the robbery have long criminal records. Costner is a deserter from the United States army. Banghart is a professional international thief who specializes in diamonds. His nickname, Ice, is the underworld term for the same.

THOMAS UTILITY GIVES $32,933 FREE SERVICE

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 11.—The annual report of the city of Thomasville water and light department, as submitted to the local council by Superintendent E. L. Pringle, reveals that a total of $32,933.50 in free service was rendered to the city during the year of 1933, this divided as follows:

Free electric service, $23,852.36; free water service, $9,081.14.

This amount of free service was rendered in addition to the fact that many thousands of dollars were taken from the general funds of the plant and used in other departments of the general government of the city. Considerable lists of names for service of the plant have continued to show a profit and an increase in free service and support to the community.

Sales Tax Plan Hit In Columbia Report

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The sales tax was termed "an unnecessary and backward step in taxation" in a report made public today by Columbia University following a nationwide study made by a staff of Columbia economists.

"On the whole, evidence with this form of taxation to date offers little support for the contention that the sales tax should form a permanent element in a state tax system," said the report, written by Professor Carl Shoup, director of the study.

The investigation was financed by the Rockefeller Foundation and directed by Robert Murray Haig, Meckler professor of political economy, University of Chicago, at which 18 have sales tax.

was not. On Costner was found $38.80.

He denied that he had any connection with Banghart and told police he had been staying in another part of the city.

Questioned, Banghart denied he had any connection with kidnappings or recent bank robberies. He was questioned for about an hour, but truck robbery in Charlotte, N. C., on November 15, in which $105,000 was taken.

Too Much 'Dough.'

Captain John McIntire, of the Baltimore force, quoted Banghart as saying: "I've got enough dough to be seen in 25 years."

The money found in a handbag, neatly done up in bundles. In other suit cases were the guns, and still another contained a complete makeup set, including all types of mustaches and whiskers.

Each of the four under arrest was placed in a different police station in 1932 at city hall and a guard was placed around the apartment building in the hope of making further arrests.

Banghart has a criminal record of nearly 20 years. An escapee from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta in 1927 he shot his way out of jail at South Bend, Ind., where he was held while extradition proceedings were in progress.

Escaped Trap.

The most spectacular incident, however, came last August when he escaped from one of the most elaborate police traps ever devised.

He and Charles Connors allegedly attempted to steal $200,000 from a factory, additional ransom after $70,000 already had been paid. A detective disguised as a messenger took a dummy package to the Chicago factory, signing his name as Lawrence F. Collins, where he was shot and killed.

Informing of Banghart's arrest today, the police expressed pleasure. "The arrest will make it a much stronger case," he said.

Chicago police said the capture was "a very good piece of police work." The report made by the department of justice in Washington showed how Banghart had been trailed from Chicago to Lexington, Ky., and to Baltimore.

The report showed that Banghart rented an apartment on North Charles street in Baltimore, Md., signing his name as Lawrence F. Collins, "where he resided with his supposed wife and Ludwig Schmidt, using the name of J. Wagner."

Schmidt had had a long criminal history, dating back past the time of his escape from the Atlanta penitentiary with Gerald Chapman, who later was convicted of bank robbery and hanged in Connecticut. He also was known as a pal of Dutch Anderson, notorious bank robber who was later shot to death at Saginaw, Mich.

The department report added that across the hall from Banghart's apartment lived a man using the alias of L. J. Johnson, and an unidentified man. They left Baltimore about December 20, 1933, indicating that they were on their way to Philadelphia. Banghart and those with him remained in the apartment until January 5, 1934, when they departed.

The handwriting on automobile tags obtained by Banghart, under the name Lawrence F. Collins "is similar to the known handwriting of Banghart."

"Banghart," the report said, "was frequently seen wearing dark glasses and displayed large quantities of money. His wife also displayed large sums of money, tied up in a roll with cord."

Popular Drugs Declared Cause Of Mysterious, Fatal Disease

(Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

By A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 11.—Two Milwaukee physicians have discovered the cause and cure of most cases of agranulocytosis—a rare disease believed until a year or two ago to be inevitably fatal.

They have discovered that the disease is caused by certain increasingly popular pain-killing drugs, containing a combination of barbiturates and salicylates, which in the case of some few hyper-sensitive persons, cause the white blood cells to diminish or disappear. This leaves the body without its natural defenses and almost any infection, but usually an infection of the mucous membranes, causes death. The increasing use of these drugs is now sold without restriction or prescription over drug store counters in many states but are restricted to prescription in several.

The conquest of agranulocytosis (sometimes called primary granulopenia) was described in a paper read before the Milwaukee County Medical Society by Dr. W. Madison, giving an account of the work done by himself and Dr. Theodore L. Squire.

The physicians in studying a case here two years ago observed that each relapse and drop in the number of white blood cells immediately followed the taking of certain drugs. Administration of these drugs was stopped. The patient recovered. Thrice since relapses followed the taking of the same drugs.

Subsequent observations confirmed the suspicion with mathematical regularity. A few weeks after the taking of the drugs, a patient's white blood cell count dropped alarmingly. It was found in all cases of agranulocytosis that unless the patient was so weak that the blood had no resistance left and infections were already acute, abstaining from the drugs usually again produced a sufficient white blood cell count to combat dangerous infections.

Stop Drugs, Save Lives.

Dr. Madison and Squire cited 14 cases which have occurred in Milwaukee.

'Swedish Nightingale' Ridicules 'Temperament' of Prima Donnas

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Greta Ljungberg, the "Swedish Nightingale" of the present day at the Metropolitan opera, believes the traditional prima donna temperament is "all made up."

"I'm not a prima donna, I'm just a singer," she said today. "This is a very nervous and temperamental people have to do things with temperament when they don't do it with the voice, to show they are artists."

"But temperament makes it much harder to sing. It is better to be calm and quiet about things. If you are disturbed, you make a lot of mistakes with the voice and waver the hands, it affects the vocal cords and you have much harder work to reach the high notes."

"Singing is a business like everything else, but a nerve wracking business. The best way to do it is to keep the nerves calm, treat everyone as a human being, and about things, you learn that after a while."

Miss Ljungberg sat in her hotel apartment, a red robe wrapped around her, and talked of her life in Sweden. A tall, blonde viking of a woman, her unaffected manner bore out her disapproval of prima donna temperament.

Senate Confirms Statesboro Man Despite 17-Year-Old Poker Game

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The senate decided today to confirm the appointment of Grover Raines as judge of the Georgia courts. Raines, 57, was accused of playing poker 17 years ago and was not sufficient cause to deny George T. Groover the postmaster at Statesboro, Ga., and confirmed him for the job.

The action was taken after Representative Parker, democrat, Georgia, who introduced Groover's name as an affidavit stating he was in the poker game with Groover and did not consider his appointment a criminal.

Parker charged that Raines' opposition to Groover was the result of a court case in which Groover sought to collect rent on a store he rented Raines.

Parker said Groover was a church member in good standing and asked a Statesboro pastor to so inform the senate, but confirmation was given before the pastor replied.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

A General Weekly Review of Commerce and Industry Affecting the Greater Atlanta Trade Territory

Edited By JACK TUBBS

Harris Rim and Wheel Co. Appointed State Bendix Products Distributor

'DRIVE-IN SERVICE' PROVES VALUABLE TO AUTO OWNERS

West Peachtree Street Concern Equipped for Highly Specialized Repairs and Adjustments.

Recognition of its peerless service to motorists is reflected in the announced appointment of the Harris Rim & Wheel Company, 404 West Peachtree street, N. W., as state distributor for all Bendix products. This popular Atlanta concern, of which John A. Harris is president, was established in 1929 and has won a steadily increasing number of satisfied customers—a fact attributed largely to the high standard of its service.

The Harris Rim & Wheel Company's "drive-in" station, which has proven to Atlanta and Georgia auto, bus and truck operators an efficient and economical answer to countless automotive problems, is completely equipped to handle all types of repairs, adjustments and realignments on brakes, drums, springs, wheels and axles.

Efficiently manned by factory-trained experts, the Harris "drive-in" station is prepared for rapid and competent service of all kinds, with the exception of body and motor repairs and painting.

Under the able personal direction of Mr. Harris, the "drive-in" shop is divided into four separate and distinct departments.

The wheel department, in charge of Guy Burnham, is equipped to handle all types of wheel and rim repairs and alignment for all sizes, types and makes of automobiles, trucks and buses.

The importance of wheel alignment, says Mr. Harris, cannot be stressed too strongly, since a large percentage of accidents are attributable either directly or indirectly to badly aligned wheels and faulty brakes.

Harry Butler is at the head of a completely equipped front and alignment axle department, which offers a thoroughgoing and highly specialized service in front-end repairs and adjustments.

An important adjunct of the mechanical equipment of the "drive-in" station is the Cowdrey front and alignment apparatus, which also is adjusted to give proper alignment according to manufacturers' specifications.

Brake Department. One of the most important adjuncts of the Harris Rim & Wheel Company's station is its brake department, in charge of Johnnie Lane, a man of long experience in this automotive line.

Mr. Harris stresses the importance of positive brake action, perfect front-end alignment and periodical wheel inspection as major factors in the reduction of accident causes. From a safety standpoint, he asserts, failure to heed these three things is responsible for a large percentage of driving mishaps.

Auto operators are invited to visit the Harris "drive-in" brake department and to inspect the huge Bendix Cowdrey electric brake tester, one of but a few such machines in operation in this section. This recently developed machine accurately tests each wheel separately by a pressure gauge adjustment through the latest and most accurate arrangement, and is capable of testing dual wheels on

Screws Advocates Sales Tax As Relief to Real Estate

Present Load Unjust, Declares Executive of Local Concern; Property Owners Urged To Seek Legislative Action.

A five-year tax holiday on all Georgia real estate is urged by M. H. Screws, manager of the Screws Realty Company, 44 Walton street, N. W., as an aid to the governmental recovery plan of President Roosevelt. Mr. Screws advocates substitution of a sales tax to produce revenue that would be lost through suspension of the general property levy.

Real estate must have taxation relief, Mr. Screws declared, "and a sales tax will raise sufficient revenue to balance the loss of revenue from the real estate tax sources."

"The only major price decline during the period of June through December, 1933, as shown by figures of the United States department of labor, was real estate rentals. Advances were recorded in every other major business in response to the wise plan of the government."

Much Property Lost. "During this period thousands of parcels of real estate, improved and unimproved, were being turned over to mortgage companies by purchasers on account of confiscatory taxes. Reduced income from rental property was directly responsible for the majority of these instances."

Real estate cannot continue to bear the unjust load of taxation imposed by antiquated methods of raising revenue, and well-informed persons can readily see that the continuing raising of bodies of political subdivisions is unreasonable and leading to confiscation of property."

Taxation relief for real estate is not only necessary for the property owner, but for municipal, state and governmental agencies which have depended upon real estate tax revenue to produce operating expenses. Mr. Screws pointed out. With a sharp drop of income, many of these agencies have been forced to greatly curtail their activities in the interest of the general public welfare, he stated.

Mode of Escape. "The real owner's effort now," he continued, "is merely to get rid of his property and escape the choking pressure of increased charges. Failing to realize on his investment and seeing no relief ahead, he lets the mortgage man have it."

"It is obvious that to secure revenue for operation of city, county and state functions, a new system must be devised. In my opinion, a percentage sales tax is the answer to the problem, this to be a substitute for real estate taxes and not to be an additional burden upon the citizenry."

"I believe that lifting the burden of taxes on real estate for five years will bring about a general recovery of business and be a great factor in the return of general prosperity."

All types of passenger autos, buses or trucks.

Complete Brake Service. Mr. Harris calls special attention to the completeness of the company's service in Atlanta, but throughout the state, for Bendix brakes, B-K power brakes for passenger automobiles, trucks and buses, and for the popular and efficient Westinghouse air brakes. It also is distributor for Grunite truck brake drums and the popular Grunite air springs.

Walter Brady, a man of long experience, is in full charge of repairs, reining and adjustment of power brakes on all trucks and buses.

The Harris Rim & Wheel Company maintains also complete spring department in charge of R. F. Camp. Every type of spring repair and adjustment is done according to highly specialized specifications. This department, it is stated, carries a full line of Maremont springs.

The company, it is pointed out, also handles the Trico line of vacuum windshield wipers—a small but most important part of the equipment of every car, especially during the rainy and snowy weather that is to come.

It also handles a full line of Marvel carburetors, for which it is state distributor.

Auto, truck, bus or van owners not in Atlanta, but throughout the state are invited to visit the Harris Rim & Wheel Company's "drive-in" station, get the habit of regular periodical visits, and avail themselves of this popular Atlanta concern's highly specialized service. They will find here an efficient, courteous and speedy service.

CHAS. N. WALKER WARNS OF EFFECT OF COLD ON ROOFS

Rapid Drops in Temperature Cause Contraction and Splitting, Says Roofing Expert.

The recent drop of 55 degrees in temperature within an eight-hour period, and the similar but less spectacular decline during the last half of the past week, have taken heavy toll of Atlanta roofs, according to Charles N. Walker, president of the Walker Roofing Company, 141 Houston street, N. E.

Few home or building owners, says Mr. Walker, realize the devastating effects wrought by sudden changes in temperature, and fail to heed the trouble signs until the elements have exacted further toll on exposed construction.

"The sun," says Mr. Walker, "is the only enemy of any kind of roof, other than a quick freeze. A sudden temperature will crack the roof, and the sun will draw the substance out of it."

"We recently had a temperature drop of 55 degrees within an eight-hour period. Roofs that had been open for some time simply couldn't stand the strain of the sudden contraction, and many of them split. Others became so hard and brittle that they were blown off by the accompanying high wind."

Prices of roofing applied, says Mr. Walker, have not yet advanced nearly so much as have lumber and other materials which go into the building of a home.

"We would like to say to all people," says Mr. Walker, "that in our opinion they can save a considerable amount in re-roofing if they will buy at present prices."

The Walker Roofing Company, during recent months, has been turning its chief attention to the re-roofing of homes, factories, business buildings, churches, etc., rather than to new roofing, due to the fact that not much new construction is now going on.

The company, Mr. Walker points out, does considerable business in the re-roofing of cotton mills, and a large volume of business in sheet metal work, such as the installation of skylights, ventilators, ducts, etc.

The company carries a large force of well-trained men, both in the way of salesmen who are roofing engineers, and mechanics who, through long experience, are equipped to handle the most difficult jobs.

The Walker Roofing Company has been in business here more than a quarter of a century, and its work covers the entire southeast.

"Building years of experience," Mr. Walker asserts, "have taught us to know who are the best manufacturers of roofing materials—a fact which is of greater importance than the buying of such materials. Proper application will keep the roof from leaking, but if inferior materials are used they won't last."

Because of this long experience, the Walker Roofing Company has long handled the products of the Amalgamated Roofing Company's products, among which the Let-fast roofing shingle is one of the most popular ever put on the market.

Races Postponed. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Due to inclement weather, the Pan American air races at the new Shushan airport, a major feature of the carnival season, were postponed to date until Wednesday, February 14.

Orders are accumulating at a faster pace than production schedules can be stepped up to meet them.

The capital goods lines still continue to drag relatively, and it is chiefly owing to the low rates of activities in these lines that several million workers still fail to find normal employment. Building and construction and renovation of railway equipment, under the spur of government spending and government lending, however, are moving forward more rapidly.

Building, reflecting public works contracts, has shown a sharp jump over this time last year. The steel industry, while still working at less than 25 per cent of theoretical capacity, has also shown marked gains. Steel estimates daily average output in January at 73,950 gross tons, a gain of only 1.5 per cent over December, but 86 per cent over January of last year.

The Standard survey estimated that industrial production of first half of 1934 would probably aggregate 20 per cent over the same period of 1933. "In some basic industries," it

Courteous, neat and well trained route men pick up your laundry. When it is laundered—by the most advanced methods known to science—they return it speedily to the customer, undeterred by snow, sleet or rain.

The laundry must be delivered. Like the federal postal service, the Model Laundry, at Houston and Jackson streets, stresses the high standard of its delivery service as well as the unexcelled quality of its work.

Regardless of the weather—snow, sleet or rain—the efficient delivery personnel of the Model Laundry goes through and returns its burden of fresh, clean laundry to the home or office on time.

When snow swirled Saturday to blanket Atlanta's streets and snarl traffic on every hand, the Model's delivery service, though slightly delayed by the hazardous streets, completed its work and returned every bundle ordered returned that day. "A great proportion of the public," says J. O. Mangum, co-owner, "thinks it is cheaper to have the laundry done at home, though in 80 per cent of the cases this belief is fallacious. Particularly is this realized during such wintry weather as we have experienced the last few days."

"When one considers the overhead necessary for an efficient job of home laundering—the equipment and materials needed and the services of extra help, or the back-breaking effort involved, to say nothing of the mess within the house and the inconvenience or discomfort of drying the clothes—one begins to realize the true value of the laundry."

The Model Laundry is equipped and prepared to take the burden of all these details off the shoulders of the housewife, and to give an efficient service at prices no higher than those of other reputable laundries.

The Model Laundry, by the way, offers laundering service, including wet-wash, thrifty, rough-dry, domestic and prim-press.

Every department of this popular Atlanta laundry is governed by the high standards required for membership in the Laundry Owners' National Association. Every article, under the watchful eye of thoroughly trained supervisors, is assured of perfect care, to insure its laundering under the most highly developed and approved methods.

Clothing and linens are carefully sorted according to colors and materials, and are put through 11 separate waters—four sudsy and seven rinses—thus assuring perfect cleanliness and freshness.

Successful creamy soft-water cleansings and many clear rinsings mean cleaner, longer-lived clothes. The Model uses each water only once and then discards it forever. Every sud and every rinse is timed to the second. Throughout, the Model's operation is controlled by scientific formula, to guarantee safe washing and absolute cleanliness.

As has been pointed out, the Model Laundry's delivery staff is a source of great pride to the company. The trucks are manned by thoroughly trained, efficient and courteous route men, who guarantee perfect care to every bundle entrusted to them. The Model's trucks are properly equipped and the route men are men trained to avoid mishap and to make their deliveries on time.

The owners, George Griffin Jr. and Mr. Mangum, invite housekeepers to investigate the Model service and to visit and inspect the modern, fully equipped daylight plant, where all laundry is done under ideal working conditions and with strict adherence to NRA requirements.

COTTON ADVANCES 67 TO 68 POINTS DURING PAST WEEK

Heavy Buying and Extremely Active Trading Is Feature of Market in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The cotton market was extremely active during the past week with heavy general buying in evidence which easily absorbed profit-taking as well as selling by professionals on the reaction theory.

Prices, despite fair reactions from time to time, showed daily advances, making new highs for the movement on the sea-day and reaching the best levels of the week on the closing day.

For the first week in a long period the cotton market ignored stocks and the commodity markets and was entirely governed by influences within the market itself. Confidence in the success of the plan for a drastic reduction in acreage and the amendment to the Bankhead bill adopted in committee placing a prohibitive tax of 12 cents a pound on all cotton gained in excess of nine million bales was a major influence.

The Liverpool market advanced even more rapidly than the markets on this side of the Atlantic with the result that the differences between that market and our markets widened materially. This should stimulate exports except for the persistent holding movement due to the confidence of spot holders in higher prices later on.

The week closed with prices showing not advanced compared with the preceding Saturday of 67 to 68 points. The demand for spot was good, but would be buyers were handicapped by the scarcity of offerings and the high basis demanded. If the offerings were available, exports should be stimulated by steeper foreign exchange and the good shipping differences prevailing between the markets.

Actual exports during the week were fairly good and somewhat in excess of the corresponding week last year. The total exports for the season to date showed a falling off compared with the corresponding period of last year of 135,000 bales.

The following shows the high, low and closing sales in the New Orleans futures market during the past week compared with a year ago:

MEN---MONEY and MANAGEMENT Many blocks go into the building of a successful business. But men, money and management constitute the keystone of the business arch. Protect the concern against the loss of any or all of these three elements and the whole enterprise is strengthened.
